

202

technique including a second phase in which the first and second phases have equal durations of comparison. The differential Fick technique is permitted

[illegible]